About the Candidate

I'm an engineering geologist by profession who outside of work my hobbies include time with my family and marathon running both in Australia and Internationally. I decided to run for Parliament because over the course of my life I've seen Australia slowly but surely changing for the worse with my laws and regulations, higher taxes and a worse quality of life for all of us. I get I couldn't sit back and watch this great country be destroyed inch by inch. David Limbrick of the Libertarian Party (formerly Liberal Democrats) has been doing a great job standing up for Victoria and the South East and I wanted to join him.

What will you do to support economic growth and attract investment in Greater Dandenong while ensuring residents can access jobs and training opportunities?

Definitely. High electricity costs and land tax are making it very challenging for industry in Greater Dandenong. We want to address both these by ending net zero laws and reducing tax, removing obstacles to employment growth.

What will you do to ease cost-of-living pressures for residents, particularly on housing affordability and supporting low-income households?

Reduce the regulation that is making housing unaffordable at the moment. Half the cost of new houses is currently taxes.

What do you propose to improve community safety and address crime challenges in Greater Dandenong?

If elected David and I will introduce within 100 days a F* around and Find Out bill which will allow homeowners/occupiers to defend themselves, their property and their families without fear of prosecution. We will also legalise pepper spray so that people (particularly women) can protect themselves legally when out and about.

What transport projects will you prioritise for Greater Dandenong if elected?

Ensure different transport types are synchronised to allow for more efficient travel time and less to wasting to change services.

Is there anything else you would like Greater Dandenong residents to know?

David Limbrick has built a well-deserved reputation for solving problems. If elected I committed to doing the same. Being practical to solve the challenges facing the community.
